Are you getting the most from your packaging budget? You will be following a Corrugated Case Company Packaging Review.

How it works?

Our packaging review scheme has been designed to help companies improve the efficiency and logistics of their packaging process with the ultimate goal of reducing costs and/or improving efficiencies.

The review process will look at a number of areas including:

- Pack types
- Materials used
- Packaging lines
- Systems
- Goods outwards

What it costs?

This service is provided completely free of charge and the joint objective will be to take cost out of your packaging process.

What to do next?

If you would like to find out how a packaging review can benefit your business please contact a member of our sales team. We will provide you with a short questionnaire to complete and return to us. Following this we will visit you to explain how the process works, what benefits you can expect to get out of it and agree the objectives for the review.

"The packaging review has been a really enlightening process, not only has it improved efficiency and made the whole process much easier for the workforce it has also brought savings of over £20,000 a year"

CCC Packaging review results in £20,000 efficiency savings for major Kitchen supplier Omega Plc

Omega PLC is a brand leader in the design, manufacture and marketing of high quality fitted kitchens and furniture supplied via specialist kitchen outlets and direct to housing developers throughout the UK. With such a complex operation with high value product it is essential that their packaging provision is of the highest quality and their packaging processes are as efficient as possible.

A full packaging review was undertaken on behalf of Omega Plc one of our major clients with the aim to reduce costs in their packing and distribution departments. As products and product ranges evolve, ancillary issues such as packing and pack styles can often be left behind, suitability of materials, styles and pack efficiencies can all be compromised. Given those circumstances a packaging review can often reunite the foregoing issues with the added benefits of cost out be it labour, materials, pack consolidation or on line efficiencies.

The review consisted of a full evaluation of all packaging from the production lines through to their distribution process. The suitability of material grade, style of packaging, packing layout of the contents, fit for size and product protection in line with the efficiency of the packing lines right through to the distribution process and end user.

Such a thorough review process required 'buy in' from the management and staff at Omega. CCC's packaging specialists visited the site and liaised with the workforce to ensure they had a complete understanding of the processes and requirements.

Following this review a written report was supplied to the senior management team at Omega. As a direct result of this report benefits were gained in 3 key areas:

- Amending the grade of over specified material
- Re-arranging product into smaller boxes
- Changing the style of the packaging to utilise more universal packs allowing more products to fit into fewer box specifications.

This resulted in reducing the number of box variants by over 15%, which in turn impacted positively on the remaining lines by benefiting from higher volumes manufacturing, in turn reducing the unit purchase price. The total process represented an annual saving of £20,000 per annum.

If you believe that your business could benefit from a packaging review please contact a member of our sales team who will arrange a consultation.

Popular FEFCO Styles

Frequently asked Questions

This factsheet gives the answers to some of the more frequently asked questions relating to corrugated packaging.

What's the correct way to measure a box to ensure my product fits?

When quoting we work to internal dimensions, therefore the external measurements of your product are required. We then add appropriate allowances dependent on the style and board grade of the box to then ensure a snug and protective fit around the product. Measure the length, width and depth (or height) of the item you would like to pack as per the diagram below and express the measurements in millimetres.

Always supply the measurement in this order:

1. Length
2. Width
3. Depth (or height)

What are FEFCO Box Styles?

FEFCO is the European Federation of Corrugated Board manufacturers. FEFCO codes/box styles are an internationally recognised system to substitute long and complicated descriptions of box and packaging constructions with simple codes which are understood by all. Corrugated Case Company will supply their clients with a free FEFCO case catalogue on request. On the left are illustrations of some of the most common styles.

Can you produce small and large quantities?

Our efficient and modern equipment is well suited to produce from prototypes, small runs through to high volume runs. We are well geared to suit and satisfy demands from both ends of the market place.

I have bespoke requirements, can you help?

Yes! This is exactly what we do, we design and produce boxes to customers requirements. Our staff will discuss your packaging details with you and advise on a cost effective solution that suits your needs and budget.

My company has an environmental policy to only use recycled materials from sustainable sources, can you supply me on this basis?

Yes we can... Corrugated board is made up from cellulose fibres, which are virgin or recycled. This makes corrugated a totally renewable natural resource therefore all our materials are 100% recyclable and fully biodegradable giving it an unbeatable record for recycling and recovery.

What is a CAD CAM?

A Cad Cam is a Computer Aided Design package and Computer Aided Manufacturing process. Corrugated Case uses state of art software to assist in designing and production of prototype samples. This system then maintains an electronic record of all designs produced giving the ability to reproduce them at anytime.
